

two rollouts, one network, one input

Training draws a random cutoff d each step and makes the first d coordinates predict the first d coordinates of the next latent.